

Brief Biodata N.K. Goel

Dr N.K. Goel is currently Professor of Hydrology at Indian Institute of Technology Roorkee. Before joining IIT Roorkee in 1988 as Reader, he served National Institute of Hydrology, Roorkee as Scientist. He received his B. Tech. Degree in Civil Engineering from GBPUAT in 1980, and M. Tech. and Ph. D degrees from Indian Institute of Technology Delhi and Indian Institute of Technology Roorkee respectively in 1982 and 1990. He has held the position of Adjunct Professor in Department of Civil engineering, University of Waterloo Canada from 2003 to 2006 and Bharat Singh Chair Professor for Water Resources from 2013 to 2017.

Dr N. K. Goel has received many honours and awards like ASCE-EWRI -2014 Best Case Study award, and Khosla Research Prize in the years 1999, 2001 and 2002 by IIT Roorkee. He has served IIT Roorkee in various administrative capacities like Head Department of Hydrology from 2006-2008 and Dean of students' Welfare from 2009- 2011. He has served as the member of several National level committees. In recognition of his outstanding contributions to the field of flood estimation and forecasting, and flood frequency analysis under climate and land use changes, GBPUA &T conferred on him 'Outstanding Alumnus of College of Technology' award in 2019.

Dr N.K. Goel was also actively associated with the U-PROBE programme of DST in which Meteorological observatories were established in 100 schools of Uttarakhand during 2002-2007 period.